

Dr Sumeet Singla
MD(Medicine), DNB (Medicine), MNAMS, FICP

Dr Sumeet Singla, Associate Editor of JIACM, is an alumnus of the prestigious Maulana Azad Medical College of New Delhi. He did his post graduation from the equally renowned Postgraduate Institute of Medical Education and Research, Dr Ram Manohar Lohia Hospital, New Delhi. Dr Singla then embarked on a career in academics and teaching and is currently working as full-time faculty on the post of Associate Professor of Medicine and Rheumatology at his alma mater i.e., Maulana Azad Medical College.

Dr Singla has been a keen academic and researcher. He has more than 25 publications to his credit and several projects are running. His main academic interests are in clinical medicine and rheumatology.

His association with JIACM goes back about 10 years when he started assisting the then editors in copy-editing and proof-reading the selected manuscripts. Gradually, assuming a larger role, he became secretary of the journal and is now the Associate Editor of JIACM. He is also serving as a member of the Governing body of Indian Association of Clinical Medicine, the parent body of the journal.

His vision for the journal along with the entire editorial team is to raise JIACM to the level of a respected, well-read, authentic and resourceful journal for physicians, and students of medicine alike. He would also like to give the journal an international flavour by attracting more contributors and authors from out of India, however, the theme should be commensurate with the original defined goals of JIACM i.e., focus on clinical medicine and clinical research agendas.